

BUSINESS IN Costa Rica

Costa Rica continues to grow as an international business powerhouse. In fact, many multinational companies have “outsourced” operations to Costa Rica, with more companies setting up shop in Costa Rica every week.

According to the Tico Times, “Costa Rica ranks third behind powerhouses India and China as the most competitive offshore destination... Not bad for a country roughly the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined, and whose population of just over 4 million is less than half the size of Los Angeles County.”

“Costa Rica is in a convenient geographic location to be able to service clients in North America. As such, companies like Intel, Procter & Gamble, Hewlett Packard, Baxter Healthcare and Fujitsu have 10,000+ employees located in Costa Rica.”

When you consider the major hotel and resort companies like Marriott, The Four Seasons and Barcelo, investing and building in Costa Rica, the total investment in Costa Rica is staggering, and continues to grow.

The pride of the people is what makes Costa Rica such a remarkable investment and employment location.

“...Costa Rica continues to be a strategic site for us and now our best products are manufactured here. I believe this speaks for itself...”

PAUL OTELLINI, PRESIDENT AND CEO,
INTEL.